Rec Coordinator Report

Dec 29, 2022

As 2022 comes to an end and we reflect, we experienced changes in our lives, including the losses of dear friends. We are finally living the "Old Normal", with the return of a full Upper Rec for the Christmas Dinner. The food was delicious and the friendship comforting. Last year, Jan Seaton & I were taking a short walk on the beach with my dogs & couldn't walk past plastic, cans & other trash on the shoreline. Like many beachcombers, we found more of that than seashells. I didn't need my dog bag, so I began picking it up until the small bag was full. Knowing many ORLK beachcombers do the same but often don't carry a bag, I'm recycling bird seed bags from Reno into beachcomber bags to help those who pick up stuff on their walks. There will be bags at the bridge & at our beach. Use for shells or things you pick up along the way that has no relationship where we walk. Keep or leave where you got it after emptying. We won't turn them into bracelets like 4 Ocean, but ORLK will leave our spaces better than how we found it. See 4 Ocean story at 4ocean.com.

A Mexican Recipe and a Story

brought to you by the Pavement Pounders

In 1943, a group of American women whose husbands were stationed in Eagle Pass at the Fort Duncan military base crossed the bridge into Piedras Negras, Coahuila to go shopping. Afterwards, they decided to stay for dinner, but all the restaurants were closed except one: the Victory Club. The women asked the Victory Club's maître d', Ignacio Anaya, if they could order food, but when Anaya went back into the kitchen, no-one was there. So instead, Anaya tossed together whatever he could find in the kitchen. He sliced a tortilla in four pieces, put some cheese and a slice of jalapeño on top and stuck it in the oven for a few minutes.

Anaya took his invented snack out to the ladies, who asked him what it was called it. Since 'Nacho' is a common nickname for Ignacio in Latin American countries, he quickly responded, "Nacho's Special!"

The American women loved Anaya's improvised dish so much that he shared the recipe around the restaurant's kitchen. After leaving the Victory Club in 1961, Nacho took his namesake dish across the border to Eagle Pass and opened his own place, Nacho's Restaurant. 'Nacho's Special' eventually shortened to 'nachos' and became the most popular appetizer at the restaurant.

Ignacio "Nacho" Anaya's Original Recipe for Nacho's Special:

Makes 12 wafers. Recipe is adapted from a 1969 interview with Ignacio Anaya.

Ingredients

3 corn tortillas

1 cup shredded longhorn cheese, about 3 ounces by weight

1 Tbs Canola Oil

12 Pickled Jalapeño slices

Method

Preheat oven to 350°F

1. Brush the oil on both sides of each tortilla, cut each into quarters, and bake them in a 350°F oven for 15 to 20 minutes. They will turn a darker brown, but do not let them burn.

2. Shred the cheese and distribute it among the tortilla triangles. Place a slice of Jalapeño on each.

3. Bake the triangles in a 350°F oven for about 5 minutes until the cheese is bubbly. Alternately, you can place them under the broiler for a minute or so. Keep a close watch so that they do not burn.

I love these, and hope you do, too. Thank you, Ignacio "Nacho" Anaya.

Now you have it.....the original recipe and the story for nachos.
